Who are we?

NLACL is a family-oriented, non-profit advocacy association that works with persons with intellectual disabilities, and their families with a main goal of creating communities where everyone belongs.

What is Community Living?

It is simple really – most of us experience it every day. We are welcomed into our community, work with our peers and go to school with our friends. NLACL works hard to make sure persons with disabilities are welcomed and supported in their community in the same way.

What can we do for you and with you?

- Share a wide range of information regarding support for persons with intellectual disabilities and the types of programs, services and resources available on a local, provincial and national level.
- Work with parents of individuals with intellectual disabilities to ensure that their child's rights are guaranteed and they have the available supports they need at home and in the community.
- Working together, alongside government and other agencies, we can help build more inclusive communities.
- Work with members to provide support and guidance on Future Planning, Wills & Estate Planning, and RDSPs. See attached application form.
- We work with families to assist their children in transitioning from youth to adult supports and services. Check the new NLACL Transitions Guides available on our website at nlacl.ca.
- Current members can now participate in our new Hotel Respite Program, which offers a very special discounted rate enabling parents and caregivers of a person with an intellectual disability the opportunity to have a “place to get away” and allow themselves a chance to rest and rejuvenate recharge and relax. See attached information.
- NLACL – proud to be family-led and advocating on behalf of persons with intellectual disabilities since 1956.
